Let's Start!

Writing Spot: Do I have to do my homework?

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about travel and vacations in social situations.

Ask your partner:

- Do you always complete your homework? Why or why not?
- Do you think homework is important? Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can write about food and customs.
- I can make suggestions.
- I can use one and ones.

Let's Explore!

Listen to the conversation between Vanessa and her cooking instructor. What does the instructor suggest?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Cooking Instructor: Class, before we finish today, I want to tell you about your homework.

Vanessa: Homework again?

Cooking Instructor: Yes ... Vanessa. Tonight you are going to write about your favorite restaurant.

Vanessa: What do we include?

Cooking Instructor: I would suggest that you write at least six sentences and use a lot of description. Proofread your work as well when you are done. Capital letters, periods, commas and question marks are very important.

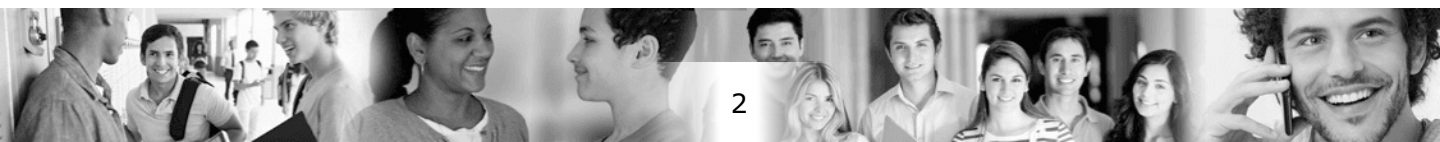

Vanessa: Anything else?

Cooking Instructor: I want you to compare the different dishes they offer. Dishes from Northern India have a careful mixture of spices. For example, I preferred the spicy curry. The mild ones were too bland. The spicy one was delicious.

Vanessa: I went to an Indian restaurant last night. Can I write about their dishes? What a spread!

Cooking Instructor: Absolutely! Did you remember many of the items on the menu?

Vanessa: Not really ... I spent my time at the buffet.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa has to complete homework. Do you remember what the cooking instructor told her?

Instructions: Read the sentences. Fill in the blank with the missing word. Use: one suggest / think / Proofread / ones / commas.

Cooking Instructor: I would _____ that you write at least six sentences and use a lot of description. _____ your work as well when you are done. Capital letters, periods, _____ and question marks are very important.

Cooking Instructor: I _____ you should compare the different dishes they offer. Dishes from Northern India have a careful mixture of spices. For example, I preferred the spicy curry. The mild _____ were too bland. The spicy _____ was delicious.

Let's Practice!

Is everything in order?

Instructions: Read the dialogue again. Put the sentences into the correct order. Write the order number next to each sentence.

- _____ The spicy chicken Vindaloo and beef Rogan Josh were delicious.
- _____ I tried some mild dishes as well, like butter chicken and samosas.
- _____ What a wonderful evening!
- _____ I preferred the spicy dishes over the milder ones.
- _____ The restaurant was crowded and very noisy.
- _____ Last night, I went to a new Indian restaurant on Palmer Boulevard.
- _____ They made me feel like I was sitting at a restaurant in Northern India!

Learning Points

Adjectives to Describe Food

Food is also a good way to introduce people to a new culture. There are many specific adjectives to describe how food tastes.

Describing Food	Adjective	Definition
Flavors	Sweet Salty Bitter Smoky Hot/Spicy	A sugary flavor Tastes too much of salt Strong or unpleasant flavor The taste of smoked wood To make one's mouth burn
Textures	Creamy Crunchy Greasy	Smooth, soft and thick A hard texture Tastes of oil

Examples:

- This burger has a smoky flavor.
- This Indian curry is so spicy.
- This ice cream is so rich and creamy.

Pronouns One vs. Ones

You can use the pronouns one (singular) and ones (plural) to replace nouns. You often use demonstratives (this, that, these, those) with one and ones.

Example: There are two pies. I like this one. It's an apple pie.

You can use them after Which in questions.

Example: Which one? or Which ones?
